About us

The Military Telecommunications Division, which was formed in 2008, is the continuator and successor of the Microwave Equipment Division. The Microwave Equipment Division was formed in 2006 from the former Radio Relay Equipment Division. During its existence this plant gained a solid position in the field of special radio communications as a supplier of communication technology for the military stationary and mobile tactical network. The plant's existing results are reflected in the fact that the plant workers make up a stabilised and highly qualified team of professionals who meet all customer requirements.
